About CIJE

Chetana is an international educational journal published by Pt. Chakoli Ram Educational and Social Development Society, Dholpur, Rajasthan. Its first issue, named as CHETANA, was published in 2008-09. It accepted articles, containing any sort of educational issues relating to human life. However, looking to its popularity and a large number of reading clients, since 2016 onwards the journal has been promoted to an international level. Now the journal is known as "Chetana International Journal of Education" and would go on accepting articles from most contributors who highlight some kind of human issues and provide their probable solutions. If such contributions reach the editors at least one month before the publication of the journal they are likely to be accepted. Articles received later on and are worth publication, could be likely to be considered by the editorial board for the next issue. The editorial board has the sole right to accept or reject an article for publication. If an article is found unsuitable, it may be rejected and sent back to the author. The contributors, whose articles are accepted, will always be informed before its publication provided the authors' addresses, emails, and phone numbers are provided to the editorial board.

All articles or research reports need to be typed in single space in English on 12 pts in Times New Roman font. Although no specific field of writing has been indicated by the editors, yet it is expected that most articles thus submitted should contain the themes relating to the field of education. However, articles relating to self-help or inspirational areas can also be published if found suitable. The contributors would need to pay some small amount of money through the specified bank, in India and abroad if their articles are selected for publication and if they agree for that. It is just needed to cover up various kinds of expenditure involved in publishing an online journal

The Journal fulfills the UGC conditions listed in the Gazette of India, Extraordinary, Page 63, dated. July 18, 2018." as per staff selection
